

ML Strategies Health Care Preview - Week of February 5th

February 05, 2018 || By

This week, Congress needs to pass a government funding bill by Thursday. Will we get a final budget deal or another continuing resolution? There are still several important health care programs that need to be addressed as well as health care initiatives that have bipartisan support and could find their way into a deal. The challenge for Leadership this week is putting together a deal that can pass without upsetting the delicate balance in the House of Representatives. We cover this and more in this week's preview, which can be found here.
